Figure 1. A photograph of a large, dark, irregularly shaped object, possibly a rock or a piece of debris, resting on a light-colored, textured surface. The object has a jagged, crystalline appearance. In the background, there is a dark, rectangular structure, possibly a piece of equipment or a container, and a light-colored, possibly metallic, surface with some horizontal lines or markings. The overall scene is dimly lit, with the object being the primary focus.
